Notes to Condensed Financial Statements

Note 1 - Business Organization, Nature of Operations

Energous Corporation (f/k/a DvineWave Inc.) (the “Company”) was incorporated in Delaware on October 30, 2012 (inception). The Company is a development stage technology company focused on developing a solution to delivering a wire-free charging system, as a means of providing convenient, adaptive wireless power charging capabilities to low power fixed and mobile devices, such as mobile phones, tablets, toys, videogame controllers, watches, remote controls, smoke alarms, window covering deployment and retraction motors, installed sensors and night and emergency lighting fixtures that use or are capable of using a rechargeable battery. The Company is targeting both consumer and commercial enterprise markets that use such rechargeable fixed and mobile devices.

On January 2, 2014, the board of directors and stockholders approved the name change for the Company to Energous Corporation from DvineWave Inc.

As of March 31, 2014, the Company had not yet completed the development of its product and had not yet recorded any revenues. Since inception, the Company’s primary activities have consisted of developing its business plan, raising capital, recruiting and hiring its executive team and developing its technology. To date, these activities have been funded primarily through the sale of Senior Secured Convertible Notes (“Convertible Notes”) (See Note 6, Private Placement) and funding of the Company’s initial public offering (“IPO”), which was consummated on April 2, 2014 (See Note 10 – Subsequent Events).

The Company is considered to be in the development stage, and as such, the Company’s condensed financial statements are prepared in accordance with the Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) topic 915, “Development Stage Entities.” The Company is subject to all of the risks associated with development stage companies.

Effective March 26, 2014, pursuant to authority granted by the stockholders and the Board of Directors of the Company, the Company implemented a 1-for-3.99 reverse split of the Company’s issued and outstanding common stock (the “Reverse Split”). All share and per share information in this Form 10-Q has been retroactively adjusted to reflect the Reverse Split.

Note 2 – Liquidity and Management Plans

The Company has not generated revenues since its inception and has incurred net losses for the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 and for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014 of $31,009,723, $54,324 and $36,552,091, respectively.

As of March 31, 2014, the Company had cash on hand of $730,279 and convertible notes with an outstanding principal and interest balance of $5,785,708. In April 2014 the Company completed its IPO of 4,600,000 shares of common stock through which the Company raised net proceeds of approximately $24.8 million. In connection with the completion of the IPO, the Company’s outstanding convertible notes and interest were converted into 1,833,336 and 96,792 shares, respectively, of common stock, thus extinguishing the debt associated with the notes. We expect cash on hand after the IPO will be sufficient to fund our operations through 2015.

Research and development of new technologies is, by its nature, unpredictable. Although the Company will undertake development efforts with commercially reasonable diligence, there can be no assurance that the net proceeds from the Company’s recently completed IPO will be sufficient to enable it to develop its technology to the extent needed to create future revenues to sustain its operations. The Company expects that it may choose to pursue additional financing, depending upon the market conditions, which could include follow-on equity offerings, debt financing, co-development agreements or other alternatives. Should the Company choose to pursue additional financing, there is no assurance that the Company would be able to do so on terms that it would find acceptable.

Note 3 – Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited condensed financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States (“U.S. GAAP”) for interim financial information and Article 8 of Regulation S-X. Accordingly, they do not include all of the information and footnotes required by U.S. GAAP for complete financial statements. In the opinion of management, all adjustments (consisting of normal accruals) considered for a fair presentation have been included. Operating results for the three months ended March 31, 2014 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the year ending December 31, 2014. These condensed financial statements should be read in conjunction with the financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2013 and related notes thereto included in the Company’s registration statement on Form S-1 filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) on March 21, 2014.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent liabilities at the date of the condensed financial statements as well as the reported expenses during the reporting periods.

The Company’s significant estimates and assumptions include the valuation of the Company’s common stock, the valuation of stock-based compensation instruments and the valuation of derivative financial instruments, the amortization of deferred financing costs, the amortization and recoverability of capitalized patent costs and useful lives of long-lived assets, and income tax expense. Some of these judgments can be subjective and complex, and, consequently, actual results may differ from these estimates. Although the Company believes that its estimates and assumptions are reasonable, they are based upon information available at the time the estimates and assumptions were made. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Research and Development

Research and development expenses are charged to operations as incurred. For internally developed patents, all costs incurred to the point when a patent application is to be filed are expensed as incurred as research and development expense. Patent application costs, generally legal costs, are expensed as research and development costs until such time as the future economic benefits of such patents become more certain. The Company incurred research and development costs of $929,213, $41,209, and $3,056,206 for the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 and for the period October 31, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014, respectively.

Income Taxes

Tax benefits are recognized only for tax positions that are more likely than not to be sustained upon examination by tax authorities. The amount recognized is measured as the largest amount of benefit that is greater than 50 percent likely to be realized upon settlement. A liability for “unrecognized tax benefits” is recorded for any tax benefits claimed in the Company’s tax returns that do not meet these recognition and measurement standards. As of March 31, 2014, no liability for unrecognized tax benefits was required to be reported. The guidance also discusses the classification of related interest and penalties on income taxes. The Company’s policy is to record interest and penalties on uncertain tax positions as a component of income tax expense. No interest or penalties were recorded for the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 or for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014.

Note 3 – Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, continued

Net Loss Per Common Share

Basic net loss per share is computed by dividing net loss available to common stockholders by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding during the period. Diluted earnings per share is computed using the weighted average number of common shares and, if dilutive, potential common shares outstanding during the period. Potential common shares consist of the incremental common shares issuable upon the exercise of stock options (using the treasury stock method), the exercise and/or conversion of the Company's convertible notes and warrants (using the if-converted method). The computation of basic loss per share for the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 excludes potentially dilutive securities of 4,133,540 and 0, respectively, because their inclusion would be antidilutive. As a result, the computations of net loss per share for each period presented is the same for both basic and fully diluted.

Potentially dilutive securities outlined in the table below have been excluded from the computation of diluted net loss per share because the effect of their inclusion would have been anti-dilutive.

	At March 31,
	2014	2013
Convertible Notes – principal	1,833,336	-
Convertible Notes – accrued interest	95,233	-
Consulting Warrant to purchase common stock	278,228	-
Financing Warrant to purchase common stock	152,778	-
IR Consulting Warrant	36,000	-
Options to purchase common stock	1,737,965	-
Total potentially dilutive securities	4,133,540	-

Fair Value Measurements

The carrying amounts of cash and cash equivalents, accounts payable and accrued expenses, approximate fair value due to the short-term nature of these instruments. Fair value is defined as an exit price, representing the amount that would be received upon the sale of an asset or payment to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants. Fair value is a market-based measurement that is determined based on assumptions that market participants would use in pricing an asset or liability. A three-tier fair value hierarchy is used to prioritize the inputs in measuring fair value as follows:

- Level 1 Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 Quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets, quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in markets that are not active, or other inputs that are observable, either directly or indirectly.
- Level 3 Significant unobservable inputs that cannot be corroborated by market data.

The assets or liability's fair value measurement within the fair value hierarchy is based upon the lowest level of any input that is significant to the fair value measurement. The following table provides a summary of the assets that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis.

Total	$ 6,277,000	$ -	$ -	$ 6,277,000

The following table sets forth a summary of the changes in the fair value of the Company's Level 3 financial liabilities that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis:

	For the three months ended March 31,
	2014	2013
Beginning balance	$ 6,277,000	$ -
Change in fair value of conversion feature and warrants	27,991,000	-
Ending balance	$ 34,268,000	$ -

The conversion feature of the Convertible Notes was measured at fair value using a Monte Carlo simulation and is classified within Level 3 of the valuation hierarchy. The warrant liabilities for the Financing Warrant and the Consulting Warrant were measured at fair value using a Monte Carlo simulation and are classified within Level 3 of the valuation hierarchy. The significant assumptions and valuation methods that the Company used to determine fair value and the change in fair value of the Company's derivative financial instruments are discussed in Note 6 – Private Placement.

Level 3 liabilities are valued using unobservable inputs to the valuation methodology that are significant to the measurement of the fair value of the derivative liabilities. For fair value measurements categorized within Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy, the Company's Chief Financial Officer determined its valuation policies and procedures. The development and determination of the unobservable inputs for Level 3 fair value measurements and fair value calculations are the responsibility of the Company's Interim Chief Financial Officer with support from the Company's consultants and which are approved by the Interim Chief Financial Officer.

Level 3 financial liabilities consist of the derivative liabilities for which there is no current market for these securities such that the determination of fair value requires significant judgment or estimation. Changes in fair value measurements categorized within Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy are analyzed each period based on changes in estimates or assumptions and recorded as appropriate.

The Company uses a Monte Carlo model to value Level 3 financial liabilities at inception and on subsequent valuation dates. This simulation incorporates transaction details such as the Company's stock price, contractual terms, maturity, risk free rates, as well as, volatility. The Company also used a binomial simulation and Black-Scholes economic model as supplemental valuation tools in order to validate the reasonableness of the results of the Monte Carlo simulation when measuring the Financing Warrant and the Consulting Warrant.

A significant increase in the volatility or a significant increase in the Company's stock price, in isolation, would result in a significantly higher fair value measurement. Changes in the values of the derivative liabilities are recorded in Change in Fair Value of Derivative Liabilities within Other Expense (Income) on the Company's Statements of Operations.

As of March 31, 2014, there were no transfers in or out of level 3 from other levels in the fair value hierarchy. In accordance with the provisions of ASC 815, the Company presented the conversion feature and warrant liabilities at fair value on its balance sheet, with the corresponding changes in fair value recorded in the Company's statement of operations for the applicable reporting periods.

Management determined that the results of its valuations are reasonable.

Management's Evaluation of Subsequent Events

The Company evaluates events that have occurred after the balance sheet date of March 31, 2014, through the date which the condensed financial statements were available to be issued. Based upon the review, other than described in Note 10 – Subsequent Events, the Company did not identify any recognized or non-recognized subsequent events that would have required adjustment or disclosure in the condensed financial statements.

Note 6 – Private Placement

Senior Secured Convertible Notes

On May 16, 2013, the Company entered into a securities purchase agreement (the “Securities Purchase Agreement”) with accredited investors (the “Investors”), pursuant to which the Company sold an aggregate of $5,500,009 principal amount of senior secured convertible notes (the “Convertible Notes”). In connection with the sale of the Convertible Notes (the “Bridge Financing”), the Company entered into a registration rights agreement (the “Registration Rights Agreement”) and a security agreement (the “Security Agreement”) with the Investors. The closing of the Bridge Financing was completed on May 16, 2013. The Convertible Notes bear interest at 6% per annum and would have matured on August 16, 2014.

The principal and interest of the Convertible Notes are convertible into the Company’s common stock at a conversion price between $2.07 and $4.15 per share depending on the facts and circumstances at the time of the conversion (see below). Upon issuance, the Convertible Notes bear simple interest at 6% per annum, and upon the occurrence of any specified event of default, the Convertible Notes would have borne interest at 12% per annum. The Convertible Notes are required to be converted upon the IPO, if any, in which case the conversion price is equal to 50% of the price to the public in such offering (but not more than $4.15 or less than $2.07 per share) (See Note 10 – Subsequent Events - Conversion of Convertible Notes).

The aggregate amount of accrued interest on the Convertible Notes was $285,699 and $207,945 as of March 31, 2014 and December 31, 2013, respectively. As of March 31, 2014, the principal and accrued interest on the Convertible Notes were convertible into 1,833,336 and 95,233 shares of the Company’s common stock, assuming a conversion price of $3.00 per share (or, fifty percent of the IPO per share price of $6.00 per share).

Accounting for the Senior Secured Convertible Notes

Pursuant to the terms of the Convertible Notes, the conversion price is subject to adjustment in the event of an IPO, other financing and upon certain other events. The embedded conversion feature was not clearly and closely related to the host instrument and was bifurcated from the host Convertible Notes as a derivative, principally because the instrument’s variable exercise price terms would not qualify as being indexed to the Company’s own common stock. Accordingly, this conversion feature instrument has been classified as a derivative liability in the accompanying condensed balance sheet as of March 31, 2014. Derivative liabilities are initially recorded at fair value and are then re-valued at each reporting date, with changes in fair value recognized in earnings during the reporting period.

The Company determined that the initial fair value of the embedded conversion option was $5,376,000. From the gross proceeds upon the issuance of the Convertible Notes of $5,500,009, the Company deducted in full the fair value of the embedded conversion feature of $5,376,000 as a debt discount, as shown below. The debt discount is being amortized under the effective interest method over the term of the Convertible Notes.

Face value of the Convertible Notes	$ 5,500,009
Discount-fair value of embedded conversion feature	(5,376,000)
Proceeds attributable to the Convertible Notes	$ 124,009

The Company calculated the fair value of the embedded conversion feature of the Convertible Notes using a Monte Carlo simulation, with the observable assumptions as provided in the table below. The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement of the reporting entity's embedded conversion feature are expected stock prices, levels of trading and liquidity of the Company stock. Significant increases in the expected stock prices and expected liquidity would result in a significantly higher fair value measurement. Significant increases in either the probability or severity of default of the host instrument would result in a significantly lower fair value measurement.

Aggregate fair value	$ 28,459,000	$ 5,573,000

The amortization of debt discount related to the Convertible Notes was $920,739, $0 and $1,626,028, respectively, for the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 and for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014, respectively. As of March 31, 2014, the debt discount will be amortized over a remaining period of 0.4 years. The derivative liability related to the embedded conversion feature is revalued at each reporting period. During the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 and for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014, the Company recorded an increase of $22,886,000, $0 and $23,083,000, respectively, in the fair value of the derivative liability for the conversion feature of the Convertible Notes, which was recorded as a change in the fair value of derivative liabilities within the condensed statement of operations.

In connection with the sale of the Convertible Notes, the Company paid MDB a cash fee of $538,393 and sold to MDB for $1,000 in cash, a warrant issued on May 16, 2013 (the “Financing Warrant”) to purchase shares of the Company’s common stock. The Financing Warrant was fully vested upon issuance, has a term of five years and may not be exercised until six months after the consummation of a qualifying firm commitment underwritten initial public offering. Pursuant to the terms of the Financing Warrant, the aggregate exercise price is fixed at $550,000, with the per share exercise price determined based upon 120% of the conversion price of the Convertible Notes upon the consummation of the IPO, or upon other events under which the Convertible Notes may convert. As of March 31, 2014, the Financing Warrant was exercisable into 152,778 shares of the Company’s common stock, assuming an exercise price of $3.60 per share (or 120% of the Convertible Notes conversion price of $3.00 per share).

In addition, in the event of a non-liquid exit transaction, as defined in the Financing Warrant agreement, the holder of the Financing Warrant may put the Financing Warrant back to the Company for a cash settlement at a fair value amount to be determined by appraisal and agreed to by both parties.

MDB shall have certain registration rights with respect to the common stock issued upon exercise of the Financing Warrant, including a one-time demand registration right with respect to such common stock.

Consulting Agreement

On January 23, 2013, the Company entered into a consulting agreement with MDB (the “Consulting Agreement”), pursuant to which MDB agreed to provide financial, strategic and intellectual property advisory services. The Consulting Agreement had an initial term of 180 days, and was renewed automatically upon the expiration of its initial term, after which it will continue in effect until it is terminated by either party with 30 days written notice to the other party.

As consideration for services provided under the Consulting Agreement prior to May 16, 2013, the Company sold to MDB for $1,500 in cash, a warrant (the “Consulting Warrant”) for the purchase of an aggregate of 278,228 shares of the Company’s common stock. The Consulting Warrant was fully vested upon issuance, has a term of five years, an exercise price of $0.04 per share and may not be exercised until six months after the consummation of the IPO. The Consulting Warrant may be exercised on a cashless basis. In addition, in the event of a non-liquid exit transaction, as defined in the Consulting Warrant, the holder of the Consulting Warrant may put the Consulting Warrant back to the Company for a cash settlement at a fair value amount to be determined by appraisal and agreed to by both parties. MDB shall have certain registration rights with respect to the common stock issued upon exercise of the Consulting Warrant, including a one-time demand registration right with respect to such common stock.

Accounting for the Financing Warrant and the Consulting Warrant

The Company determined that due to their cash settlement features both the Financing Warrant and the Consulting Warrant qualified as derivative instruments. Accordingly, these instruments have been classified as derivative liabilities in the accompanying balance sheet as of March 31, 2014. Derivative liabilities are initially recorded at fair value and are then re-valued at each reporting date, with changes in fair value recognized in earnings during the reporting period.

The Company calculated the fair value of the Financing Warrant and the Consulting Warrant using a Monte Carlo simulation, with the observable assumptions as provided in the table below. The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement of the reporting entity's Financing Warrant and the Consulting Warrant are expected stock prices, levels of trading and liquidity of the Company's common stock. Significant increases in the expected stock prices and expected liquidity would result in a significantly higher fair value measurement. Significant increases in either the probability or severity of default of the host instrument would result in a significantly lower fair value measurement.

Provided below are the principal assumptions used in the measurement of the fair values of the Financing Warrant and the Consulting Warrant as of March 31, 2014 and December 31, 2013.

	As of March 31, 2014		As of December 31, 2013
	Financing Warrant	Consulting Warrant	Financing Warrant	Consulting Warrant

Number of trials	20,000	20,000	20,000	20,000
Aggregate fair value	$ 1,764,000	$ 4,045,000	$ 175,000	$ 529,000

The initial fair value of the Financing Warrant was $186,500 and was accounted for as derivative issuance expense and along with the other derivative issuance expenses (see below), was expensed upon the issuance of the Convertible Notes. The initial fair value of the Consulting Warrant was $537,500, and was expensed immediately as a consulting fee and was recorded within general and administrative expenses in the condensed statement of operations for the year ended December 31, 2013. During the three months ended March 31, 2014, the Company recorded an aggregate increase of $5,105,000 in the fair value of the derivative liability for the Financing Warrant and the Consulting Warrant, which was recorded as a change in the fair value of derivative liabilities within the condensed statement of operations.

Patent Assignment

On May 16, 2013, the Company entered into a patent assignment and Security Agreement with the Investors, in order to grant a continuing security interest in the patents included as collateral pledged in connection with the Convertible Notes. The security interest in the Company's patents terminated on April 2, 2014, in connection with the conversion of the Convertible Notes.

Option Valuation

The Company has computed the fair value of options granted using the Black-Scholes option pricing model. Option forfeitures are estimated at the time of valuation and reduce expense ratably over the vesting period. This estimate will be adjusted periodically based on the extent to which actual option forfeitures differ, or are expected to differ, from the previous estimate, when it is material. The expected term used for options issued to non-employees is the contractual life and the expected term used for options issued to employees is the estimated period of time that options granted are expected to be outstanding. The Company utilizes the “simplified” method to develop an estimate of the expected term of “plain vanilla” employee option grants. Since the Company’s stock has not been publicly traded for a sufficiently long period of time, the Company is utilizing an expected volatility figure based on a review of the historical volatilities, over a period of time, equivalent to the expected life of the instrument being valued, of similarly positioned public companies within its industry. The risk-free interest rate was determined from the implied yields from U.S. Treasury zero-coupon bonds with a remaining term consistent with the expected term of the instrument being valued.

Overview

We are a development stage technology company. We are developing technology that can enable wire-free charging or powering of electronic devices at distance. We believe our technology is a novel approach, in that it charges or powers devices by surrounding them with a three dimensional ("3D") pocket of energy formed by radio frequencies ("RF pocket"). In our laboratory, our prototype devices have enabled wireless transmission of energy from a transmitter (similar in size and shape to a Wi-Fi router) to multiple receiver test boards at a distance of up to 15 feet. Our test boards are constructed from commercially available parts and components, are not optimized for our receiver application and are too large to be incorporated in commercially marketed products. We intend to develop a receiver chip to integrate into additional test devices. We believe this receiver chip will optimize our technology into a significantly smaller space and allow for the incorporation of our receiver technology into various products. If the receiver chip we expect to develop is integrated into a low-power (under 10 watts) electronic device, the chip should be able to utilize the received energy to either power the device directly or charge the battery that powers the device. We are also developing management and control of our solution through a software application that will ultimately reside on the device being charged. We believe that if our development efforts are successful, our transmitter/receiver solution will initially be able to power or charge multiple electronic devices at up to 1.5 watts at distances of up to 30 feet. Subsequent development efforts will focus on increasing the charging wattage, increasing the distance of charging, enhancing reliability, enhancing management and control of the solution and reducing design cost.

We were incorporated in Delaware on October 30, 2012 under the name DvineWave Inc. and in January 2014 we changed our name to Energous Corporation. We are located in Pleasanton, CA. To date, our operations have been funded through the sale of our common stock and convertible debt.

We intend to license our technology to various consumer electronics companies, including component manufacturers, original equipment manufacturers (“OEMs”), original design manufacturers (“ODMs”) and branded consumer electronics firms. We believe strategic relationships with key consumer electronics supply chain licensees will enable us to reap the benefits of our technology much faster than by manufacturing, distributing or installing products ourselves.

In our operating history, we have developed a beta system consisting of a base station transmitter, a smart phone receiver case, receiver test boards and management software. In addition, we have designed and submitted for manufacturing an application specific integrated circuit (“ASIC”) to optimize our transmitter technology. Furthermore, we have designed, but not yet submitted for manufacturing, an ASIC to optimize our receiver technology. In connection with the receiver technology, we have designed multiple smart phone charging cases, which are still under development. Complementing our hardware designs, we have developed a software application that we believe allows for management, control, statistics and prioritization of the charging for the remote devices via a smartphone, tablet or PC.

We have pursued an aggressive intellectual property strategy and are developing new patents. As of May 8, 2014, we have 50 pending U.S. patents and provisional patent applications. Thus far we have identified more than 73 specific inventions we believe to be novel and patentable, and we intend to continue filing these inventions for patent protection.

We have recruited and hired a seasoned management team with public company and relevant industry experience to develop and execute our operating plan. In addition, we have hired and have identified additional engineering resources, which we expect will build up the engineering capability of our internal team.

We are a development stage company and have not yet generated any revenue to date, and have incurred significant losses from operations since inception. We expect to continue to incur operating losses for the foreseeable future as we develop our technology.

Plan of Operations

Our strategy is to continue to focus on the development of our remote charging technology with our current goal being to license this technology to consumer electronics supply chain firms or manufacturers or developers of toys and other devices that would benefit from remote charging. We expect that our remote charging technology will be made commercially available to potential licensees during the fourth quarter of 2014; however, we believe that potential licensees of our remote charging technology will take at least one to two years to incorporate the Company’s technology into commercial products available for sale. We expect to use the net proceeds received from our recently completed IPO to continue our remote charging technology development, develop product reference designs, complete certification testing, protect our intellectual property, pursue licensing partners and for working capital and other general corporate purposes. Our anticipated costs include employee salaries and benefits, compensation paid to consultants and independent contractors, capital costs for research and other equipment, cost for ASIC manufacturing and testing, cost associated with governmental certification testing, costs associated with development activities including travel and administration, legal expenses, sales and marketing costs, general and administrative expenses, and other costs associated with an early stage, publicly-traded technology company. We anticipate increasing the number of employees by up to approximately 39 employees; however, this is highly dependent on the progress of our development efforts. We anticipate adding employees in the areas of research and development, sales and marketing, operations and general and administrative functions required to support our efforts. We expect to incur consulting expenses related to technology development and other efforts as well as legal and related expenses to protect our intellectual property.

The amounts that we actually spend for any specific purpose may vary significantly and will depend on a number of factors including, but not limited to, the pace of progress of our development and licensing efforts, unexpected difficulties arising in the process of protecting our intellectual property, market conditions, and changes in or revisions to our marketing strategies. In addition, we may use a portion of any net proceeds from our recently completed IPO to acquire complementary products, technologies or businesses; however, we do not have plans for any acquisitions at this time. We have significant discretion in the use of such net proceeds.

Results of Operations

Revenues. To date we have not generated any revenues.

Operating Expenses and Loss from Operations. Operating expenses are made up of derivative instrument issuance, research and development, general and administrative and marketing expenses. Research and development expenses include the costs incurred in developing the Company's Application-Specific Integrated Circuit ("ASIC"), employee and consultant compensation, stock-based compensation, testing and other materials. General and administrative expenses include costs for general and corporate functions, including salaries, stock-based compensation for options and warrants, facility fees, travel, telecommunications, insurance, professional fees, consulting fees and other overhead. Marketing expenses include costs for promoting the Company's products and developing strategic relationships, the costs of which consist principally of employee and consultant compensation, stock-based compensation and travel related expenses.

Loss from operations for the three months ended March 31, 2014 was $2,020,553 as compared to $54,340 for the three months ended March 31, 2013. The increase in loss from operations resulted primarily from employee and consultant compensation, stock-based compensation, ASIC development, other research and development and marketing expenditures, as well as the legal and accounting costs incurred in connection with compliance with our Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") reporting obligations, an increased emphasis on marketing and selling initiatives and our research and development efforts. Loss from operations for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014 was $6,477,290.

Within operating expenses: Derivative instrument issuance expense was $0, $0 and $887,062 for the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 and for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014, respectively. Research and development expense was $929,213, $41,209 and $3,056,206 and included stock-based compensation of $143,767, $0 and $143,767 and ASIC development costs of approximately $217,000, $0 and $1,394,000 for the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 and for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014, respectively. General and administrative expense was $669,289, $13,131 and $1,878,369 and included stock-based compensation of $276,354, $0 and $292,502 for the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 and for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014, respectively. Marketing expense was $422,031, $0 and $655,653 and included stock-based compensation of $10,974, $0 and $10,974 for the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013 and for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014, respectively.

Change in Fair Value of Derivative Liabilities. Change in fair value of derivative liabilities for the three months ended March 31, 2014 was $27,991,000 as compared to $0 for the three months ended March 31, 2013. The increase in change in fair value of derivative liabilities primarily resulted from an increase in the Company's stock price as of March 31, 2014. Change in fair value of derivative liabilities for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014 was $28,168,000.

Interest Income (Expense), Net. Interest income (expense) for the three months ended March 31, 2014 was $(998,190) as compared to $16 for the three months ended March 31, 2013 and included amortization of debt discount of $920,739 and $0, respectively. The increase in interest (expense) primarily resulted from the issuance of convertible promissory notes that were not outstanding during the three months ended March 31, 2013. Interest (expense) for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014 was $(1,906,801), and included amortization of debt discount of $1,626,028.

Net Loss. As a result of the above, net loss for the three months ended March 31, 2014 was $31,009,723 as compared to $54,324 for the three months ended March 31, 2013. Net loss for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014 was $36,552,091.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

We have not generated revenues since inception and have incurred net losses of $36,552,091 for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014. Since inception, we have met our liquidity requirements principally through the private placement of convertible notes and our recently completed IPO.

As of March 31, 2014, we had cash on hand of $730,279 and convertible notes with an outstanding principal and interest balance of $5,785,708. In April 2014 we completed our IPO of 4,600,000 shares of common stock through which we raised net proceeds of approximately $24.8 million. In connection with the completion of the IPO, our outstanding convertible notes were converted into 1,930,128 shares of common stock, thus extinguishing the debt associated with the convertible notes. On April 4, 2014, we issued 210,527 shares of common stock to a strategic investor upon the receipt of aggregate proceeds of $1,000,000 ($300,000 received on March 27, 2014 and $700,000 received on April 4, 2014). We expect cash on hand after the IPO will be sufficient to fund our operations through 2015.

During the three months ended March 31, 2014, cash flows used in operating activities were $1,247,104, consisting of a net loss of $31,009,723 less non-cash expenses aggregating $29,428,075 (representing principally the amortization of debt discount of $920,739, stock based compensation of $492,123 and the change in fair value of derivative liabilities of $27,991,000). During the three months ended March 31, 2013, cash flows used in operating activities were $28,066, consisting of a net loss of $54,324, less net changes in operating assets and liabilities of $26,258. During the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014, cash flows used in operating activities were $4,687,088 consisting of a net loss of $36,552,091, less non-cash expenses aggregating $31,059,954 (representing principally amortization of debt discount of $1,626,028, warrant expense of $724,000 and change in fair value of derivative liabilities of $28,168,000), and by net changes in operating assets and liabilities of $805,049.

During the three months ended March 31, 2014 and 2013, and for the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014, cash flows used in investing activities were $27,739, $0 and $226,793, respectively. The increase for the three months ended March 31, 2014 consisted principally of the purchase of computer equipment.

During the three months ended March 31, 2014, cash flows provided by financing activities were $51,342 and consisted of $300,000 in a deposit to purchase common stock, offset by $248,658 used in the payment of deferred offering costs. During the three months ended March 31, 2013, cash flows provided by financing activities were $148,297 and consisted of $160,417 in proceeds from the sale of the Company's common stock offset by $12,120 used in payment of deferred offering costs. During the period October 30, 2012 (inception) through March 31, 2014, cash flows provided by financing activities, were $5,644,160 and consisted of $5,500,009 in proceeds from the issuance of Convertible Notes, $210,681 in proceeds from the sale of the Company's common stock and $300,000 in a deposit to purchase common stock, offset by $29,553 used to repurchase restricted common stock and $336,977 used in the payment of deferred offering costs.

Research and development of new technologies is, by its nature, unpredictable. Although we will undertake development efforts with commercially reasonable diligence, there can be no assurance that the net proceeds from our recently completed IPO will be sufficient to enable us to develop our technology to the extent needed to create future revenues to sustain our operations. We expect that we may choose to pursue additional financing, depending upon the market conditions, which could include follow-on equity offerings, debt financing, co-development agreements or other alternatives.

We cannot assure you that our technology will be adopted, that we will ever earn revenues sufficient to support our operations, or that we will ever be profitable. Furthermore, since we have no committed source of financing, we cannot assure you that we will be able to raise capital as and when we need it to continue our operations.

Off Balance Sheet Transactions

We do not have any off-balance sheet transactions.

All of the stock options described above were granted in reliance upon an available exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act, including those contained in Rule 701 promulgated under Section 3(b) of the Securities Act. Among other things, we relied on the fact that, under Rule 701, companies that are not subject to the reporting requirements of Section 13 or Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act are exempt from registration under the Securities Act with respect to certain offers and sales of securities pursuant to "compensatory benefit plans" as defined under that rule. We believe that all of the options described above were issued pursuant qualifying "compensatory benefit plans".

Use of Proceeds from Registered Securities
